OOD FOR THE OTHER MAN!

We're very sure to keep our place— We strive for victory in the race; We do the best we can. To sell you goods we can but try, And if you will not something buy, We surely will not pine or die. But try some other man.

So if you do not wish to buy
From Bart ett's Music House, just fly;
Let others come instead;
And them we'll please in spite of fate,
For our facilities are great.
Our business has increased of late,
So still we're at the head.

By Telegraph to The Times. HONOLULU, Nov. 14.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press, Copyrighted, 1893, via San Francisco, Nov 23.) The main change in the political situation since the steamer Australia sailed has been one of increased strain and greater business depression. Since his formal call to present his credentials, Minister Willis has not communicated officially with the government. The most significant happening which has taken place occurred on last Monday, when a committee of the American League, a lately-organized auxili-ary of the Annexation Club, called on the new Minister. After welcoming Mr. Willis, the committee stated that the members of the earnestly desired that the Hawaiian Islands should become a part of the United States, and, with that object in view, the organization will support the present provisional government of Hawaii, and, in all honorable ways, aid in accomplishing annexa-tion. The address also contained an offer of aid, if, at any time, the Min-ister saw fit to command them.

THE REPLY. Minister Willis's answer has not yet been announced here, as the committee is pledged to secrecy, but the Associ-ated Press is enabled, after diligent inquiry and careful comparison of the versions of the Minister's remarks, as remembered by three members of the committee, to give the following nearly, if not quite, verbatim report of his reply. After welcoming the of his reply. After welcoming the committee, and speaking in pleasant terms of his visit to Hawaii, Minister Willis said:

"I am an ardent American. I would ke to see the Stars and Stripes waving like to see the Stars and Stripes waving not only over Hawaii, but over all the islands of the Pacific, or any other territory which would be beneficial to the United States. I have my instructions, which I cannot divulge. You will understand this; but this much I can say—that the policy of the United States is already formulated, regarding these islands, and that nothing which can be said or done either here or can be said or done, either here or there, can avail anything now not come here as did Mr. Blount, I come to act. When the proper time arrives, I shall act. I am sorry I can-arrives, I shall act. I am sorry I can not tell you when or how. "I wish you to understand, however, that, knowing the policy of the United States, I could not have accepted the position of an executive officer had i hold. The Americans here will have nothing to regret. While performing my duties in carrying out the United States policy. I shall have no need of aid from you or other resident Americans. However, I wish to state posi tively that any outside interference will not be tolerated by the United

DELAY IN ACTION.
The provisional government considers Minister Willis's remarks as significant, and, from other information obtained. will be shortly established over the provisional government, with the under-standing that a stable form of government be organized thereunder within a limited period. Some are of the opin-ion that action will be taken between the sailing of the Alameda today and the arrival of the Monawai on the 22d inst. This opinion has been expressed on board the U.S.S. Philadelphia within the last few days. Minister Willis's delay in action, oupled with his refusal to divulge or even hint what the policy of the United States is to be, has caused the political strain to become very great on both sides. "As a consequence, rumors are thick as bees in spring. The government has in consequence, been on the ment has, in consequence, been on the lookout for the past few days for a threatened attempt of the Royalists to seize the executive building, under the theory that if they could hold it an hour, the United States would support them as the existing government. Some of the leading Royalists deny that any such attempt has been cor templated; others remain silent when questioned.

WARLIKE MOVEMENTS.

In consequence of the strained con-dition of affairs, an extra guard of sharpshooters was stationed in the executive building last night, and will be continued there with the regular troops until the matter is settled one way or the other. As a further precaution, the government has issued thirty regular of extra amounting to see rounds of extra ammunition to each member of the citizens' reserve guard. Between dark and 12 o'clock last night. two Cabinet meetings were held yes-terday to consider the situation. At the first were present, besides the Cabinet, several members of the Advisory Council, together with Col. J. H. Soper, of the military, and Marshal Hitchcock, of the police department. At 11 o'clock this morning President Dole paid a visit to U. S. S. Philadel-phia and was received with a national salute of twenty-one guns. At 11:30 he returned, and was accorded the salute.

LOOKS QUEER. Last Monday morning the ex-Queen somewhat unexpectedly called upon Minister Willis, at the United States Legation. She was accompanied by her former chamberlain. She remained at the Legation about twenty minutes Minister Willis has not yet returned the call. The ex-Queen's action has cre ated much unfavorable comment. I surprised the Royalists, as well as the annexationists.

This afternoon, November 16, the Minister of Finance will submit a statement at the regular session of the coun-cils, which will show that the favor-able condition of the finances of the government continues.

ISLAND GOSSIP. It has been learned from semi-official ources that the reason of Admiral Skerrett's recall from this station wa because he personally attended a given by the Annexation Club to the fficers of the U. S. S. Boston, as a farewell, and to the officers of the U.S. S. Philadelphia, as a welcome.

The steamer Miowara floats in Honolulu Harbor, after being forty-one days on the reef at the entrance. The vessel after repeated examinations made by divers, is pronounced not to be seriously injured, and, at the present writing, it is thought she can be sufficiently re-paired to proceed to San Francisco. She now awaits the orders of her owners. Thomas H. Davies is still here working at his plan for a political compro-mise in favor of Princess Katulani, but thus far has met with little success. The rumor that he had gained a folowing in the Advisory Council is un-

The agitation for the removal of the Royalists from office will probably rest in abeyance until something definite is heard from Minister Willis. WILLIS'S CORRECTIONS.

I have just had an interview with Minister Willis. He declares that the first part of the reply he made to the American League should be qualified to "would like to see the Stars and Stripes waving over," etc., "under proper conditions." He declares that he never said that the result here would be such as "Americans would not regret," and added that "nothing would be done, nor would any action be taken until he again heard from Washington after the Alameda left."

He said this at 2:30. The steamers sail at 3 p.m. His last words to the Associated Press representative were that any trouble precipitated on either side would be stopped at once by the United States forces. When his atten tion was called to the dispatch saying the ex-Queen would be restored, he de clined to express an opinion. It is be-lieved here that the dispatch is a fake At the last moment, the provisional government declares it has no further information, but is certain it will be able to maintain peace.

GOT IT PARTLY. Later.-Just before the Alameda sails from Honolulu for San Francisco, the Honolulu Commercial Advertiser has issued an extra edition containing a dispatch dated Washington, November which had been published in an Auckland, New Zealand, paper, of No-vember 4, recived in Honolulu by the Alameda. This dispatch stated that Alameda. This dispatch stated that President Cleveland was preparing a message to Congress advising the restoration of the monarchy in Hawaii. Minister Willis, upon being shown the dispatch, refused to say anything in reard to it. The belief seems general in Honolulu that the dispatch is unfounded.

Secretary Gresham's letter did not give the slightest hint at the real policy of the administration, which is not only to reenthrone the Queen, but to supplement that action by establishing a new relationship with the islands. Our position is that in negotiating with the tion is that, in negotiating with the provisional government, we would be negotiating with '1 government estab-lished by the United States.

SATISFACTORY NEWS.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—Later—Secretary Gresham received a cipher mes-age this afternoon from Minister Willis giving a complete report of the Hawalian situation up to the time of the departure of the Alameda. As to the exact contents of the message, no one outside of the President and Cabinet knows. The fact that the message was received was given out, however, and it was also announced that its contents are highly satisfactory. This is interpreted by officials outside of the Cabinet to mean that Willis has completed ossuth Seriously III-The Italian Deputies-A Brazilian Rebel Ship Sunk-Dynamiters Abroad-The Russian Cup-bearer Dead.

Bu Telegraph to The Times SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23 .- (By the Associated Press.) If the news received here today by the steamship Alameda be correct, it seems possible that there may be a change in the controlling interest in the Samoan Islands, within short time, and that the English will succeed the Germans in the supremacy

The Samoan Herald states that a syn dicate has been organized in Australia with Sir Robert Stout at its head, whose intention it is to purchase plantations and other property of the Deutschen Handels und Plantagen Gesellschaft in Samoa. This company is commonly known in Samoa as the "German firm." Its interests there are larger than those of any other company or individual on the islands, and it has exerted a powerful influence there in the last few years.

The Herald, commenting upon the proposed withdrawal of this firm, says: 'If the firm should withdraw, and its place be taken by an English or Co-lonial company or syndicate, the En-glish interests and influence would so enormously increase as to dwarf into utter insignificance all others, and there is little doubt that such an acquisition would bring annexation within measurable distance.

"It is only her material interest in Samoan property, which she actually owns in the country, which has caused Germany to take se large a share in Samoan politics and history. To her, the islands are of no strategical importance. The disposal of disposa egical importance. The disposal of property, therefore, means the practical extinguishment of German interest, and we have no doubt that when these commercial interests disappear, as they would on the property being acquired by an English company, official circles in Berlin would sigh as great a sigh of relief at such a happy solution for Germany of the troublesome Samoan

Briefly, the report says the commission has no documentary evidence of political simony in the re-lations of the bank with the govern-ment, but there has been a systematic disregard of order and regularity in the action of the government towards the banks since 1880. The commission expresses strong disapproval of the cancealment of substantial portions of Baigni's report on the Banca Ramana and animadverts upon the fact that some papers were withheld from the magistrates.

The reading of the report produced a deep impression. The president refused to permit any discussion and delared the sitting closed amid hisses. protest and general uproar.

Associated Press.) President Peixotto has telegraphed to the Brazilian Minister in this city that the insurgent ironclad Javary, has been sunk by the fire of batteries at Nitheroy, and that the crew of the Javary perished.

The Javary was an iron-armored turret ship of 3700 tons, carried four ten-inch Whiteworth muzzle-loading rifled guns, six five-inch rapid-five guns, and five machine-guns. She was of 2200 horse-power, and carried twelve inches of armor. She was a powerful vessel of light draught suitable for coast defense or river service. She was built

By Telegraph to The Times. DETROIT, Nov. 23.-(By the Associated Press.) One of the worst fires Detroit has experienced in many years completely destroyed the five-story building today, occupied by Edson, Moore & Co., wholesale dry goods, and damaged several adjacent buildings, causing a total loss of $700,000. Three men, employed by the dry goods firm. lost their lives in the flames, and five others who are missing, are also supposed to have perished. The dead are:

JAMES M'KAY, BRADLEY A. DUNNING ED GENTHER. The missing are: EDWIN N. VOIGT. PATRICK MARKEY. DANIEL A. BAKER, HENRY RIDER. CHARLES W. KIRCHNER.

The fire started at 12:30 o'clock, and in half an hour the building was com-pletely gutted. Long before the engines responded, two men were seen on the window-sills of the fifth story. The crowd shouted: "Don't jump don't jump; there's help coming."

A bale of jute was placed below the window on which Bradley Dunning was perched. Driven by the flames which roared around him, he sprang, landed on the bale and fell to the sidewalk. An ambulance carried him to the hos spread a net to catch McKay, who fell into it. His injuries were such that he, too, died soon after being taken to the hospital.

Another man was seen near the upper window. His strength apparently gave out, for, after an effort to raise himself, he finally sank back and disappeared from view. He is thought to be Edward Genther. After the fire, it became evident that Guenther Rider Volgt, Markey, Baker and Kirchner were missing. It is thought that the flames started in a lot of cotton batting used for packing. James L. Edson, senior mem-ber of the firm, said the loss on stock would be about $500,000, well covered by insurance.

John J. Bagley's tobacco works suffered a loss of $25,000, covered by insurance. The loss of the Detroit Lithomy is estimated at $20. nishing goods, damage $30,000, insured for $25,000; Merchants' Hotel, damage Several other concerns suffered

THE FIRE CHIEF.

No New Developments in the Situation Yesterday in the fire chief matter. There were a number of rumors in circulation to the effect that resignations might be looked for, but nothing definite could be learned. There is no question but what the councilmen are opposed to Moriarty, which opposition is based principally on the ground that he is physically incapable of filling the place, and that the property interests at stake are too great to be jeopardized to grat-ify a sentiment. But besides this, it is urged that during the last election Moriarty was particularly active in fight-ing Mr. Strohm, and resorted to tactics which are not even fair in politics, in consequence of which the friends of tion of general secretary and treasurer was ordered, the vote standing: Hayes, 25; Martin, 21.

One of the anti-administration delegates said that if the election of general master workman had gone over until today Powderly would have shared Cavanaugh's fate. "It's Powderly's methods we are fighting more than the man himself, and he now has fair warning to mend his ways or get out. ONE WAY OF LOOKING AT IT. More Likely That the Queen Has Asked for

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—(By the Asso clated Press.) An afternoon paper's Washington special says that the theory is advanced that before the next steamer arrives at San Francisco, the Queen may have been restored, over-thrown again and a republic estab-

"If true, so be it; this administration will have done its duty in undoing the wrong done by Stevens. If, after being restored, the Queen cannot hold on t er throne, that is her lookout.

IN OFFICIAL CIRCLES. the Advices Received With Interest by the President and Secretary.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(By the associated Press.) At the White House considerable interest was apparent. Private Secretary Thurber carried the information of the arrival of the news furnished by the Associated Press to President Cleveland, who was in the private apartments of the White House busily engaged upon his message. Sec-retary Herbert is out of the city.

ANOTHER QUESTION OF VERACITY The dispatch from San Francisco that the Hawaiian Queen had not been re stored to the throne, was shown to Secretary Gresham, and he said: "That's not surprising to me. I was not expecting to hear by this steamer that she had been restored."

The Secretary was very much interested, though, apparently, not altogether pleased. Commenting upon the lispatch, the Secretary said there mus be very much contained in the dispatch that was not true. He had especial ref that was not true. He had especial rer-erence to the part which quoted Minis-ter Willis. He did not think Willis made even the remarks which were given as corrected.

The Secretary said Willis ought not to talk, as stated, and he did not be-lieve Willis would talk to anybody as he was quoted in the dispatch, as he was a careful, conservative man. Upon the until further instructions were received before he acted, Gresham would say nothing. Neither would he make an comments upon the reports that the provisional government was making such preparations for resistance.

It was declared by an officer of the State Department that no additional instructions had been sent Willis on either of the vessels that had left fo and that he would act with out anything more being sent. Upon reading the statement that Ad miral Skerrett was recalled for attending a ball given by the Annexation Club. Secretary Gresham said: urd." The statement contained in a letter received in San Francisco froma private correspondent in Honolulu that the provisional government was under arms all night preceding the departure of the Alameda, attracted the Secre tary's special interest. think there are many inaccurat atements in the letter." Regarding the assertion that Minister Willis had said he would do nothing until he heard from the State Department, the Secretary would say nothing. The statement reported as coming from the Philadelphia that some action was to be taken during the week following the departure of the Alameda, is garded as significant, tallying, as does, with the well-defined rumor cir-culated in Washington on Tuesday that the Queen was to be restored on that

AT THE LEGATION. At the Hawaiian Legation, Minister Thurston had reported. W. N. Armstrong, of the Ha-walian Legation, said: "The friends of the provisional government feel that the provisional government feel that any delay that brings the time nearer when the provisional government shall receive the news of the reception accorded by the public to Secretary Gresham's letter gives added assurance that the plan to restore the ex-Queen will be frustrated. For this reason, the news of the past week in Honolulu will be looked for with special interest. The earliest date at which the news can reach the outside world by the orcan reach the outside world by the or-dinary channels is December 7, when the steamer Warimoo will arrive at Auckland, whence the news can be cabled. The news may be received via Vancouver on December 9."

SPECULATION. It was largely a day of speculation at the Capitol regarding the situation in Hawaii. It seems the report which came by the way of New Zealand that President Cleveland had determined to restore the Queen was a surprise to the administration. The manner in which Mr. Willis has been performing his mission only adds more mystery to the situation.

It has been the theory that it would be the policy of Willis to allow the tension to become so great that the supporters of the Queen would organize and establish her government before any clash between the Queen's supporters and the forces of the provisions government; then, upon demonstrations being made, the marines from the Philadelphia would be landed for the purpose of protecting American life and property, and, when the Queen had accumulated sufficient strength to warrant it, Mr. Willis would recognize

It is believed, however, that some official information was received, the nature of which it is not possible to obtain. The dispatches today seem to indicate to the administration what it heretofore asserted—that the provisional government still stands because it feels it is backed by the moral support of the United States, and that thus far its acts have been approved by this government. At the same time it is evident that the preparations for armed resistance to the Royalists which the provisional government is making, give the officials of the administration no little concern. ministration no little concern.

NOT ON GOOD TERMS.

But Thurston, Nevertheless, Does Not Get His Passports.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.) There is no doubt that Minister Thurston and Secretary Gresham are personae non gratae to one another, but each would prefer to Gresham are personae non gratae to one another, but each would prefer to have the announcement of the fact from the other. It would probably not distress Thurston if Secreatry Gresham were to send him his passports. This would admittedly be an act of war and would place the administration still further on the defemsive, but Secretary Gresham has no intention of giving Thurston an opportunity to be made a martyr of and will not send him his passports. On the other hand, it is probable that Secretary Gresham would not be that Secretary Gresham would not be sorry if Thurston were to demand his passports. The latter's position with relation to the State Department is relation to the State Department is anomalous, the diplomatic officers of the United States have arraigned him on serious charges to which his statement was a reply. This is sufficient ground for him to base a demand for his passports upon. The intention to commit an unfriendly act upon his government has not been communicated to him officially, and is therefore, according to diplomatic usages you cated to him officially, and is therefore, according to diplomatic usages, unknown to him, but he has ample grounds for demanding information from official sources, and, if it is refused him, of calling for his passports. The Hawaiian Minister, however, will probably not give up the advantage he has in being in diplomatic relations with his government, even though they are strained.

Secretary Gresham's theory is that the provisional government of Hawaii comes to an end with a notifice.

wall comes to an end with a notifica nexation with the United States is denied, the government having been formed for the purpose of annexation. He may hold, under this theory, that Thurston no longer holds any diplo-matic relation to this government, and that his own government has ceased

THE STEAMER APPIVES The Honolulu Advertiser Had an Intime

from Auckland. SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Fress.) The Alameda arrived from Sidney and Auckland, via Honolulu, before 9 o'clock this morning, bringing news that nothing of special importance had transpired at the Hawaiian Islands since the Australia left there nearly a week before The Hawaiian Islands since the Australia left there, nearly a week before. The arrival of the Alameda had been anxiously awaited, and preparations had been made to secure promptly any news which she might bring. A copy-righted letter to the Associated Press was received at 8 o'clock, and placed on the Western Union wires at once for transmission East. It was an hour or two later before any passengers on the steamer could be seen in order to obtain from them per-sonal accounts of affairs at Honolulu. Besides the Associated Press letter, the steamer also brought copies of the extra edition of the Honolulu Com mercial-Advertiser, published just be fore the steamer left Honolulu, which contained a dispatch dated Wash ngton, November 2, and received in Honolulu by way of Auckland, N. Z., stating that the President was prepar-ing a message to Congress in favor of the restoration of the monarchy

Honolulu indicated that there was general disbelief in the dispatch, and it he majority of statements, of those in terviewed, such a policy on the part of the United States could not be carried out without a protest, if not without resistance, from the provisional gov-

A Pleasant Excursion Yestesday morning the directors of of the proposed electric road from Santa Monica to Altadena went over a portion of the route in a four-in-hand. At Pasadena the directors examined the right-of-way, and were then driven to Altadena, where Mr. Knight, secretary of the Mt. Lowe road met the party with a special car and the directors were taken to Rubio Canyon. The party was enthusiastic over the prospect of the ultimate success of this project, and were greatly pleased with the trip.

Among those who composed the party were such well-known and enterprising gentlemen as Senator Stephen M. White, Capt. C. W. Stewart, the Messrs. Knight, Crane, Pooler, ex-Mayor W. H. Workman, Russell and others. The delegation returned to Los Angeles last evening about 6 o'clock.

Are highly esteemed by their possessors. Our stock includes many Jewels of rare beauty and svalue, which are highly esteemed and much admired by all who see them. They are highly valued, but not high priced. For instance, we are selling beautiful Enamel Pins in all the new designs, wreaths, swords, flowers, etc., set with diamonds and pearls, from $10 to $20. The latest novelty in Jewelry is Fine Enameled Handled Swords. We have them at $2, $8, up to $60 each. Our stock goes like a clock, it's so elegant, artistic and beautiful, and such a complete presentation of the latest styles in Jewelry.

Our Clocks are going, too, into every house in the city, and wherever they go their arrival is always timely. We have just put on sale the most complete assortment of Clocks ever-shown in Los Angeles.

White Onyx Clocks, Marble Clocks, Bronze Clocks, Marbelized Wood Clocks, Iron Clocks. Silver Mounted Clocks, Fancy Clocks, french Porcelain Clocks, Bisque Clocks, American Nickel Clocks.

Each symposium will be accom-panied by fine portraits of the contributors.

Is the Ocean Free?

The report of the Traffic Association of California, which was submitted at the annual meeting of the association last month, contains much interesting reading in regard to the work which has been accomplished by the associa tion. The organization of this movement was something of a surprise to those who are acquainted with that class of merchants in San Francisco, to whom Arthur McEwen is fond of referring to as "prominent citizens." They had so long submitted patiently to the monopoly which controlled the amerce of San Francisco that it naturally created much surprise when they took this bold step and banded together for the purpose of securing re-

The present association was largely inspired by the abuses practiced by the Transcontinental Association, and it was thought that a disruption of that organization and the discontinuance of the payment of subsidy to the Pacific Mail Steamship Company by the transcontinental roads would be a long move in the right direction.

The association now reports that the ntinental Association is completely broken up, and the subsidy of the Pacific Mail ceased December 31, 1892 The clipper line, which was organized a year and a half ago, almost members of the association, is still in successful operation, and has completely broken up the domination over that route by the overland roads. In the month of February this year, the contract between the Pacific Mail Company and the Panama Railroad Company expired, after an existence of fifteen years, and was not renewed because of the refusal of the Panama company to continue as a subsidized line, they believing that with co-operation they could build up a legitimate the Pacific Mail. Another feather in the cap of the Traffic Association was e formation of the North American he formation of the storm which was obtained with the Panama Railroad Company. It is believed that the continuation of this company will lead to a complete disruption of the Pa-The difference in the cost of freight by this route and by rail is immense. The Southern Pacific Company at once declared war, making immense reductions in its rates, but the mer chants for once appear to have stood by the opposition line after an encouraging fashion. One of the results of this bat tle between the railroads and the merchants has been to show to what extent the roads rely for their profits on keeping down ocean competition A case which shows how this some times works was quoted a few days ago in The Times from the San Francisco Chronicle. It is a suit brought by the United States against 250 kegs of nails and other merchandise which were seized at Redondo over a year On account of the combination of the Pacific Mail and the Southern Pacific at that time freight rates were so high that the shippers found it cheaper to transport their goods from York to California by way of Europe. They could not secure an American ship at reasonable rates, and refore sent the goods to Antwerp on a Belgian vessel, where they were reon a British vessel for Redondo. This was done because it would have been against the law to ship from New York to California in a foreign vessel. Even by this round-about route, the shippers found that they aved from $3 to $4 per ton on the freight against the cheapest route controlled by the combination. Before shipping in this manner, the New chants got a favorable rulin from the Treasury Department, but as soon as it was seen that this plan would cut into the freight business nged its mind and sent out instru to make the seizures, which in volved goods to the value of $250,000. This is certainly a matter which should be looked into. The merchants and producers of this Coast have anough to contend with already. The pocean is at our door, and shippers are are fr making an attempt to secure the peans even though goods have to be sent half way around the world. If the government intends to stand in with the transportation monopoly and cast unnecessary obstacles in the way of ocean competition, it will be well for our merchants to know it as soon as possible, in order that they may take steps to protect themselves. Mean time, there is evidently a wide field of usefulness open for such organizations as the Traffic Association of California. The Commitment of the Insane.

There is an abuse which has been growing in this land of freedom of which the general public have little knowledge. If they had, it is certain that a loud and general demand would be made for reform in this direction. It is a subject which for many years has engaged the descriptive powers of European authors, and has served as the foundation for many powerful and sensational stories. We refer to the facilities with which persons can be railroaded into insane asylums. Only a few weeks ago the case of an innocent person having been so incarcerated in San Francisco led to an investigation by one of the papers, during which the startling fact was discovered that people were sometimes sent to madhouse on the order of a physician who had never seen them, much less examined them. This disclosure led to an immediate reform, which may or may not ast. An Ohio exchange has the following to say on this subject:

"The custom, which has become almost common law in many States, of permitting the testimony of two physics." a common law in many States, of permitting the testimony of two physicians to consign a man or woman to an asylum for the insane, seems to have excited simultaneous hostility throughout the United States and Great Britain. Powerful organizations are moving, through the influence of literature and through the courts, to break down the common custom and make necessary something more than the 'ibse dixet' of a couple of men susceptible of extraneous influence to deprive a man or woman of liberty for an indefinite period. The particular case that has brought this state of affairs prominently before the public was that of Irene House, recently discharged from the Trenton (N. J.) asylum for the insane on a writ of habeas corpus. She had been committed on the 8th of last month upon the usual testimony of two physicians, and her counsel has set up the plea that the committenent was in violation of a constitutional guarantee of notice of trial, and a trial by jury. The superintendent of the asylum from which she was released testified that 90 per cent. of the inmates of the asylum were there on the say-so of two physician and the testimony of two witnesses before a probate judge are necessary for commitment to an asylum for lunatics in Ohio." The restrictions which are thrown around commitments to insane asylums are no greater here than they are in New Jersey. A man or woman can be committed to an insane asylum from Los Angeles on the testimony of two physicians. It is unnecessary to point indulge in. such an unreasonable system. There are always people who have an object in getting others out of the way, for various reasons, and who do not shrink at perjury and crime in order to ac complish their purpose. Nor is it difficult for them, if they are provided with money, to obtain willing tools to do their dirty work. Unfortunately, physicians are not all men of probity and nonor. There is a considerable minority who possess neither of these qualities, but are ready to undertake any nefarious work for a sufficient consider ation. Of this we are frequently reminded of the doings of that class of practitioners in San Francisco, Yet another class there is who, like the apothecary in "Romeo and Juliet" say: 'My poverty and not my will consents.' From whatever cause these men may act, however, it is unnecessary to emphasize the danger which attaches to the fact that two such men have the power to commit a man or woman to a living tomb. There are a number of hysicians who hang around the Court house waiting for a job to turn up. in the line of an autopsy, inquest or the examination of a person charged with nsanity. We believe that in examina tions of the insane, the fee is only $5. It is easy to see how great the temptation may be for an impecunious doctor to stretch his conscience a little, and give the complainant the benefit of the doubt, when there is a chance to multiply that fee ten to twenty times. .

The law in regard to committing the insane, as it at present exists here, is a most dangerous one, and should be changed without delay. In connection with such a change it might be well to appoint a committee to visit the different insane asylums of the State, and ascertain whether any persons who are imprisoned there are of sound minds.

The growth of the order of Odd Fel-The growth of the order of Odd Fel-lows has been something remarkable. At the session which is now being held in St. Louis it is shown that the total membership, including the Sisters of Rebecca branch, is now over one mill-ion. The increase of membership in 1892 was over fifty thousand. The Odd Fellows organization is strictly an Amerioan order, it having been separated at an early date from the English order of the same name, with which it has nothing in common, although the two are frequently confounded by Euro-

The Californian Magazine devotes a number of its more or less valuable pages of the November issue—we do not know what rate it charges per line to an illustrated article, descriptive of that miserable and frequently-exposed fake known as spirit photographs. Not only is the subject treated but the address is given of a lady, who, it is said, gets accurate spirit likenesses of anybody who will send her a piece of their hair. This is getting pretty low Califo down, even for the may expect to see it publish an elaborately-illustrated "write-un" of the assage establishments, which abound in San Francisco, with portraits of the proprietresses. The Californian can scarcely be described as a credit to the literature of the Pacific Coast. By the way, it is stated that the magazine s to be removed to Los Angeles. What have we done to deserve this?

There now appears to be a good chance that the Nevada Southern Railway will be completed. Almost $40,000 has already been secured in Los Angeles, and some $15,000 more is in sight. There is every probability that contracts for grading will be let in a few days, and then the dirt will soon begin to fly. This is good news for Los Angel The Times has so frequently insisted upon the importance of this enterprise that it is not necessary for us to again impress our readers with the advantages which such a road will confe ipon Los Angeles. It is sufficient to say that as soon as through connection with the Northwest by this route is assured, we shall see the inauguration of a new era in this city, an era of nanufacturing and general progress all along the line.

MUSICAL MENTION.

The classical concert given last even-ing at the Los Angeles Theater by Forest Cheney, Miss June Reed and Miss Augustine Berger, assisted by local talent, was very pleasing musi-local talent, was very pleasing musically, but scarcely a success financially. It is certainly not inspiring to an entertainer to play or sing to so mearly an empty house as that of last evening, and, without exception, those on the programme deserve praise for the excellent manner in which they presented the entire numbers.

The violinists were heard with close attention, and were warmly applauded. Mr. Cheney handles the violin with a precision which shows plainly his fondness for this instrument, and he interprets the works of the composers well. Miss Berger's appearance was greeted with applause, and her encores were spontaneous and sincers. The singing of Mrs. Washington Berry was one of the fine effects of the even-ing. She has a rich, sympathetic voice, and possesses the happy faculty of putting her soul into her music. The complete programme was as fol-lows:

THE VETERANS.

ddress by ex-Gov. Sheldon-Res

A large assemblage of old soldiers and sailors of the late war convened in Grand Army Hall, No. 612 South Spring street, Wednesday evening. This meeting had no connection with any of the Grand Army posts, but was open to all old soldiers, whether belonging to the G.A.R. or not. Col. Melvin Mudge acted as chairman, and J. M. Sheldon to come forward. The Governor took the platform and proceeded to deny that he halled from the country; he was from the city of Pasadena. Gov. Sheldon made a short address, brim full of patriotism. It aroused the veterans to the wildest enthusiasm. At the close he was greeted with three rousing cheers.

Comrade Brooker offered the following resolutions:

TO BE READ BY CONTRARIES.

(From Our Regular New York Fashion Correspondent.) Correspondent.)

It has been a rich man's panic, and that means that the rich men's wives should feel the panic first. But it has not proven so. Contrary to the popular joker's statements, men realize that their prosperity is judged by their establishments partly, but mostly by the way they dress the women of their household. The man himself may get himself up as he likes, but the must not save money on his wife's gowning, or his creditors will begin to get uneasy, so it is that woman's dressing seems to be more extravagant than ever just now. There is a reckless display of the very latest colors, fabrics and cuts. The effort seems to be to construct gowns so that their very appearance may be a repudiation of any suspicion of making over. We may be sure that the hearts are not light under gay gowns, but gay gowns are, rich the materials, and endless the excuse for garniture of laces, rich embrodderics and appliques of all sorts. The accompanying iffustration shows a cape on which no pains has been spared to make it as elegant as possible. It is made of shot cloth, and trimmed with tinsel crochet and black gulpure worked up richly with tinsel. It is no less showy than the huge, plume-topped feth hat worn with it, and like it is designed to make a display.

and like it is designed to make a display.

That it really is an era of extravagance is further shown by the fact that jewels, long tabooed by the best taste, are again appearing. Even the ugly solitaires are seen flashing from dainty ears, almost as if the husband had made up his mind to put away a couple of thousands where it would be more safe than in the bank. Old stones are being reset in the latest fashion, possibly to suggest the idea that the resulting ornament is altogether a new one. The charm of antiques is being sacrificed to the effort to produce this impression, and grandmother's gems do not know themselves in their new places on chatelaines, and in belt buckles and hat pins. It al seems very pitiful.

Quarantine Matters Discussed in a Pape by Alexander Craw-Resolution Presented-Excursions

The third day's session of the State Fruit-growers' Convention was well attended, and a large number of interesting facts were presented. The meetings, so far, have been what may be called entirely friendly ones, and although opinions which were at vawith each other have been expressed yet an apparent spirit of gen-erous liberality has been manifested. The convention was called to order at 9:50 o'clock by Vice-President Ab-bot Kinney, when the secretary read the following resolution:

"Whereas, it has pleased the Almighty to take from our midst one who has been identified with the progress not only of the fruit industry, but in all matters relating to the wel-fare of this Coast; and, whereas, by the death of Hon. W. T. Coleman California has lost one of its best and most prominent citizens, therefore deceased and published in the daily papers."

The resolution was adopted unanimously.

Vice-President Griffith rose and said:

"On behalf of many fruit-growers of Southern California, I take pleasure in presenting to the State Board of Horticulture this framed picture of Frof. Albert Koebele. It is but an humble token of our high regard for the untiring work of this board in our interests; besides, it is eminently proper to prove that although absent modest Mr. Koebele is not forgotten by the horticulturists in this part of the State who believe him to be, considering his avocation and past efforts, the greatest genius of modern times."

The gift was acknowledged in a brief speech by Mr. Lelong, who paid a high complement to the work of the gentleman whose picture was pre-sented.

Mr. Calkins of Pomona rose to arr. Calkins of Pomona rose to a question of privilege and said he wished to state that in his neighbor-hood there were some very fine olives grown without irrigation, and even on barren hillsides.

Two or three others rose to make remarks, but it was soon decided to take up the regular order on the morning's programme, and Secretary Perkins read a paper on "Suggestions on Quarantine," as prepared by Alexander Craw, the quarantine officer of the State Board of Horticulture. In beginning, the paper rewerred to the fact that in the earlier days of the history of the State, and at about the time of the discovery of gold, the settlers here brought with them ocasional seeds and bulbs, either by the long, overland journey, or by way of the isthmus. On account of the comparatively few such seeds and bulbs long, overland journey, or by way of the isthmus. On account of the comparatively few such seeds and bulbs being brought here, and the long time which was required in which to bring thom, the insect pests which might be attached to them would be likely to be destroyed before arrival here. As time went on the growing of fruits here became more profitable, and men began to search the world over for the finest varieties of fruits for the purpose of growing such fruits here. This ied on to the importation of insect pests. The rapidity and the cheapness of transportation led to the growing of a greater number of orchards, and, of course, the orchards became contiguous to each other.

and, of course, the orchards became contiguous to each other.

The ravages of these pests led to the establishment of a State board of horticulture, and this organization devoted its energies to both the prevention and cure of these diseases. The "peach yellows" and the plum curculio which had done so much damage to peach and plum orchards, in the past, had not made their presence known here.

age to peach and plum orchards, in the past, had not made their presence known here.

There were now being imported fruit, trees, shrubs, plants and seeds from the East, and from Europe, Australia, China, Japan, the South Sea Islands, South and Central America and nearly all other countries. Hardly a vessel arrived which did not bring some of these, and most of them were infected with some pest. On them were found eggs and pupae and boring beetles and moths, and various other forms of insect and fungus life, and in most cases, unaccompanied by the natural enemies which served to keep them in check in the country of their origin. It would be readily appreciated here that eternal vigilance was the price of liberty.

The paper then went on to give a history of the origin and perfecting of the State laws governing the importing of infected shrubs or trees.

It was suggested that suitable fumigating-houses be erected at the different railroad depots, or, at least, at such places as were receiving consignments of fruit trees and fruit packages. It was further urged that Federal laws should be enacted to govern the importation of these pests the same as those at present preventing the admittance of cases of contagious diseases or of undesirable immigrants.

In conclusion, he said: "I would, therefore the termitant of the said: "I would, therefore the same as the said: "I would, therefore the said the said of the said

In conclusion, he said: "I would, therefore, urge that our Congressmen be requested to use their efforts in framing and passing a general quarantine law, which, with our State laws and county ordinances, should effectivally bar the entrance of new pests, and leave us to work out the problem of getting rid of those we already have."

The reading of the paper was followed by discussion, in which a number of gentlemen participated.

Mr. Berry of Tulare county told at length of the work in his county in the way of efforts to destroy the pests, which were a menace to fruit trees. The mixture of sulphur, lime and salt that been effectual to a considerable degree, but yet it only served to keep the pests in check instead of destroying them. If parasitee could be imported that would destroy the pests, then how much better it would be to do so. He was the Horticultural Commissioner for his county, and his experience had been that every farmer who had some little pest which the board could not find a way to destroy, would say that the board did not know anything about it. The endeavor of the board was to be just and fair, as between the orchardists and the importers of trees and fruits.

Mr. Heath of Santa Barbara introduced the following resolution:

"Whereas, it is now apparent that the best method of overcoming the various insects, scale and otherwise, so detrimental to horticulture, is by the introduction of parasites; and, whereas, the efforts of the State Board of the following resolution:

"Now, therefore, it is the sense of the convention that the board should continue its experiments in such line, and that it should receive the support of every industrial interest of the State, so intimately connected with the prosperity of horticulture.

"To this end, this convention should earnestly request the Legislature, at its next session, to appropriate a sufficient sum of money, not less than $10,000, to be expended in the discovery and importation of parasitic insects beneficial to horticulture, into this State, and that the law provide that the importation and culture of such insects and the expenditure of such sum of money be confined to the care of the State Board of Horticulture."

The reading of this resolution was heartily applauded.

Mr. Collins of Ontario said he wanted to be understood as in favor of the introduction of parasites, but he also desired that the real value of such parasites should not be overestimated. There were trees but a short distance south of this city which four or five years ago were infested with one kind of scale, and which were restored to a nearly healthy condition by means of the proper kind of parasites. The same trees were now in about as bad condition as before, and this time because of the ravages of the red scale. He believed some of the parasites had not accomplished what tion as before, and this time because of the ravages of the red scale. He believed some of the parasites had not accomplished what was expected of them. In urging the Legislature to grant an appropriation, the facts ought not to be misrepresented.

The resolution as introduced by Mr. Heath was finally referred to the Committee on Resolutions for report at the afternoon session.

Mr. Young presented a claim for the services of attorneys in their efforts resulting in the enaction of a law regulating and providing for county horticultural commissions.

There was a brief but lively debate on this question. It was brought out that the same claim had been presented at several previous conventions.

One gentleman argued that the memsented at several previous conventions.

One gentleman argued that the members of the Legislature ought to look after such matters, and that people ought not to be obliged to send men to Sacramento to work in the lobby in order to have a bill engineered through. A list of the counties of the State, showing the amount assessed to each, and also whether the same was paid or not. Was read. In this statement it was shown that Los Angeles county was assessed $70, of which amount $69 was paid.

The convention adjourned for the noon recess without taking action on the question.

Vice-President Abbot Kinney rapped for order at 1:40 o'clock, and Chairman G. J. Griffith of the Committee on Resdutions stated that a meeting of his committee had been held, and the resoution presented by Judge Heath of Santa Barbara at the morning session, and referred to the committee, had been manufactured. unanimously approved at the meeting at which all except one of the five members of the committee were present. As chairman of the committee, he now moved the adoption of the resolution, which motion was carried without debate.

Prof. E. W. Hilgard of the University of California was introduced. A burst of applause greeted his appearance. He spoke on "Fruits and Soils of the Arid Region." He, said in introduction that of course in California fruit-raising it was to a large extent the case that Eastern theories were combined with Western practice. He called attention to the fact that the lands famous as being the regions of the oldest civilization were what were known as arid lands.

to the fact that the lands famous as being the regions of the oldest civilization were what were known as arid lands.

The speaker exhibited some large tables showing analyses of soils from the humid regions of the United States, and also in different localities in California. He also presented a tabulated statement showing similar analyses of various fruit and cereal products. He said that any particular substance could be subjected to two or three different kinds of analyses, and a different result obtained from each. On the tables, however, which he presented the figures, were compiled from analyses all made by the same process. From figures, and also from history, he showed that apparently, and in fact, almost without doubt an arid soil in virgin state, that could be irrigated would support a denser population for a much longer time than would the average virgin soil in the humid region. This seemed to be due to the fact that in the humid regions the leaching of the soil by which it would faster loss its fertility went on much more rapidly than in the arid region where the only leaching that could go on would of course be for the most part as a result of irrigation.

In the alkall soils, if the evil effects of the overabundance of salts could of irrigation.

In the alkall soils, if the evil effects of the overabundance of salts could only be subdued, then there would be the richest of land for argricultural purposes. He urged that those applying to his department for information should give full data. There were three varieties of the disease known as black knot. One of these was caused by abrasion of the bark of the tree. The remedy for this was to cut off the knot smoothly and coat the place over with asphaltum or tar. The other kinds were caused by insect pests, and their remedies were more difficult to discover.

their remedies were more difficult to discover.

A. Scott Chapman gave an interesting description of how he had made a practical application of agricultural chemistry in his orchard at San Gabriel. He remarked incidentally that he had been able to pay the railroad company $250 per acre for freight on his orange crop. He had been troubled with black scale, and had sprinkled sulphur in powdered form on his trees early in the morning when the leaves were wet with dew. He had for this purpose used a seed-sower, and had in driving, kept ahead of it. A cloud of dust was raised which spread all over the trees and on the ground. The experiment had, to a considerable extent, been successful, and he was watching in expectation of still greater success.

S. M. Woodbridge spoke of the combination of chemical elements forming soil. He said in reference to irrigation that where too much water was used a leaching process would go on instead of a filtering process, as there should be when the proper amount of water was used.

Discussion coming up over gum diseases. H. Brainard of San Jose said that from careful investigation it was believed the gum disease was caused by lack of balance as to the amount of sap forced upward from the roots. A cold storm might chill the tree so that its circulation of sap would be impeded. The sap coming up from the roots the same as before would be forced out through the bark and a collection of gum would be formed. This gum would begin to decompose and result in the injury of the tree.

Prof. Hilgard said his experience with the gum disease appeared to corroborate the theory advanced by Mr. Brainard.

Mr. Boyd of Riverside said that when young trees were purchased A. Scott Chapman gave an interest-stitutional law, and repeatedly arguing the same before legislative committees in our behalf.

"That the value of the services rendered is made evident from the fact that the law enacted in our interest was promptly contested in the courts, and sustained by them, thus proving the soundness of the legal advice given, at the result of which we, for the first time, have legal means of protecting the community from the consequent.

of this convention, from the fruitgrowers of this State, the sum above

One of the gentlemen said that, while he believed the money should be paid, he thought it hardly fair that the assessment should be made to include the mining counties, not especially interested in agriculture.

There was but little further argument, and the resolution was adopted

Vice-President Griffith, who occupied the chair, announced that the Recep-tion Committee was ready to report in tion Committee was ready to report in regard to excursions.

Reduced rates had been offered by the Santa Fe Company, for a trip over the Kite-shaped track; by the Southern Padfic for a trip to Indio, and by the Mt. Lowe Railway Company for a trip to Echo Mountain. The committee had also in mind a plan of driving the guests in carriages about town and guests in carriages about town and through some of the neighboring country. Those who desired to go, could have till this morning in which to decide which excursion to take.

It was 5 o'clock, when the convention took a recess until evening.

Evening Session.

Mr. Lelong called the evening session to order just before 8 o'clock, and announced that President Cooper was still unable to be present owing to illness.

Mr. Boyd of Riverside was to read a paper at this time. He being absent, the paper, which was on "Irrigation," was read by Secretary Perkins.

The language of the paper was, in

The language of the paper was, in part:

"To demonstrate that the subject of irrigation is of world-wide importance, we have only to look back a month eres ago to the International Irrigation Congress, and look at the list of delegates from all parts of the world. The Orient and the Occident, the Northern and Southern Hemispheres, and all the leading divisions of the globe were represented, and all manifesting a lively interest in the proceedings. Although resented, and all manifesting a lively interest in the proceedings. Although this unusual interest is of modern date, we cannot by any means suppose that irrigation is a new idea. Almost all of the civilized races of the past of which we have any record practiced irrigation, and there were some races of which we have no record, notably on our own continent, that have left comparatively no traces of their history.

paratively no traces of their history outside of the remains of their irrigating canals."

The paper then went on to call attention to the comparative greater necessity among the more ancient tillers of the soil for irrigation. It was the more useful to them because their instruments for the tilling of the soil were more crude and not so effective.

As a rule, the acid regions of the country were situated in the southeastern part of the temperate zone, where the climate was more healthful. For years the arid lands had been recognized as most healthful of climates, but for a long time the problem had been how to make a living while located op such lands. Irrigation was not so costly now as formerly, and thus the smaller settlers were enabled to irrigate.

smaller settlers were enabled to irrigate.

The present condition of things by which the younger members of families were leaving farms for the purpose of going to live in cities would soon be changed and many of those such as now were flooking to the cities would soon be settling on the arid lands reclaimed by irrigation.

By reason of irrigation the extensive holding of lands would be found to be not so economical and by reason of the same thing the rise of machinery on any very large scale would be preciuded. This would cause a constant demand for a large amount of manual labor.

The Committee on Resolutions reported favorably on a resolution presented by S. K. Show of Tustin, which read as follows:

AN ARTISTIC DISPLAY.

German's Art Center on South Spring Street.

Work on the Interior Fittings Rapidly Pregressing-Not a Mere Jewelry Store-Some of the Departments That

Work has been rapidly progressing, during the past week, on the interior fittings of the handsome jewelry establishment of M. German, on South Spring street, between Third and Fourth, to which reference has already been made in these columns. The artistic counters, showcases and furnishings are in place, with a large stock of valuable goods, including some tasteful engravings, elegantly framed. It is evident, from what may be seen already, that this is destined to be one of the show places of Los Angeles.

Mr. German has exercised good judgment in the selection of a location for his business. It is convenient of access to the best residence section of the city, and just a little south of the business center, which is moving steadily in this direction, from day to day.

It should be understood by the public that this is something more than an ordinary jewelry store. As already stated, over thirty persons will be employed. Besides the most extensive and complete stock of first-class jewelry to be found on the Pacific Coast, outside of San. Francisco, there will be a department of manufacturing jewelry to order; an optical department, under charge of a capable and experienced optician, who will fit eyes free of charge; a watch-repairing department, and a complete line of artistic society stationery, including copperplate engraving of wedding and invitation cards. Monograms and addresses will be engraved without extra charge to those who buy stationery.

Ladies and gentlemen who are passing this establishment should not fail to inspect the attractive contents.

tween the board and the fruit-growers of this State or any section thereof, but, on the contrary, declare its entire confidence in the integrity of the members of the board, in their knowledge of horticulture, and in the impartiality with which they have discharged onerous duties. That this convention sincerely commends the board, and especially the president and secretary, for the untiring zeal displayed by them in fostering every interest of horticulture confided to their care, and that for the successful introduction of various parasitic insects into the State they deserve the lasting gratitude of the people of the State."

The resolution was adopted.

The following was then presented as approved by the Committee on Resolutions:

"Resolved, that this convention of

"Resolved, that this convention of California horticulturists considers that the interests of the whole Pacific Coast, and of the entire American nation demand the immediate construction by the United States government of the Nicaragua Canal, such action being taken in conjunction with other powers interested as shall insure the permanent neutralization of said canal and such adjacent territory as shall be necessary."

The resolution was objected to in this form, and was finally adopted, after having had stricken from it all the words following after the words "of the Nicaragua Canal."

The following resolution, as introduced by Mr. Berwick, was then presented:

The following resolution, as introduced by Mr. Berwick, was then presented:

"Resolved, that this California State Convention of Horticulturists assembled at Los Angeles, this 23d day of November, 1893, believes that the best interests of California horticulturists and the American nation demand the nationalization of American railroads."

Mr. Meelin rose and said he believed the convention should consider only those subjects which pertained directly to the fruit-growers. This was something which was not well understood among most of those present, and its consideration might prove an element of discord. He therefore moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Mr. Powers of Fresno said it seemed to him like a reflection on the dignity of this body of men to say they did not understand this matter. It was a question of importance to the fruit-growers, and there was no reason why it should not be considered by them.

Two or three others spoke on the question of tabling the motion. One gentelman pronounced the motion as an attempt to throttle free-speech on the subject. Another said it was a notorious fact that the railroad which ran north and south through the State controlled the State. It was also intimated that the railroads controlled the national legislators.

Mr. Meslin at this point rose to a point of order, and stated that a motion to table was not debatable.

Vice-President Griffith, from the chair, stated that he would rule in accordance with the wishes of the convention.

Someone rose at this time and said there were no rules governing this asvention.

Someone rose at this time and said

vention.

Someone rose at this time and said there were no rules governing this assembly, and consequently the parliamentary technicality would not apply to this case.

Mr. Meslin withdrew his motion to lay on the table, and said he did not have any wrong motive in making the motion, nor in making the remarks he did make in connection with it.

Someone else moved to postpone action on the resolution till the next covention and make it a special order for that time.

The vote on this motion could not be decided by yeas and nays, and so a division was called for. The motion was carried by a vote of 36 to 35. It took a second vote in which to arrive at this result.

A paper on "Forestry." as prepared by Vice-President Abbot Kinney, was read by Scoretary Perkins. The writer stated:

"The importance of a conservative stated:

"The importance of a conservative forest policy is nowhere greater than in California. It is now fully established by the forest experience of France, Germany, India, Australia, etc., that judicial management will give a high and perpetual product of bark, fuel, tar, timber, etc., from the forest without injury to the forest reserved."

Continuing, he said the value of the forest from a sportsman's point of view was as nothing compared with its influence on the delivery of the rainfall from a country's watersheds. Such a watershed would deliver a given rainfall regularly and slowly over a long period as compared to the delivery of the same rainfall from the watershed deforested. The trees and roots detain and divide the rainfall so that the water has time to be absorbed into the soil and rock veins. It was safe to say that in California that: "As the mountains are deforested so will the perennial character of the springs and streams diminish or be lost while on the other hand floods and torrents will increase and or be lost while on the other hand floods and torrents will increase and torrents will increase in force and destructiveness. The water flowing regularly from the forest mountain is the aid and servant of man in his mill, house or field. The water tearing madly over the denuded rocks of a bare and arid declivity is his scourge and his destroyer."

many over the denuded rocks of a bare and arid declivity is his scourge and his destroyer."

Through the efforts made here in connection with similar efforts made in other places, there had been secured a government policy of forest reserves. The government had reserved large tracts of land for forestry purposes. California and Colorado had been most favored in this way. In California, south of Merced, the most important mountain watersheds were now government forest reserves. The Yellowstone and Yosemite reservations were guarded by small detachments of cavalry. The result of these patrols in preventing forest fires had been marked. These fires had, to a large extent, been caused by irresponsible sheep-herders. The exclusion of these herders from the Yosemite addition ended the danger from fire.

Nowhere was a conservative system of forest management more important

Nowhere was a conservative system of forest management more important than in a country alternating with fertile plains. When to this condition was added that of alternating dry and rainy seasons, under which irrigation became an important agency and agriculture there, would be paramount reasons for a forestry system.

The blue gum tree was recommended for forestry extension, and it was urged that no trees be imported from infected districts. It was better that trees should be imported only by examined seeds.

districts. It was better that trees should be imported only by examined seeds.

Prof. Hilgard said he was heartily in favor of the plan, but, of course, it was of slow growth, that is, the plan was. He had found the European oak to be one of the fastest-growing trees of its kind, and, in fact, it produced the best wood in the country.

The subject of pecans coming up. Mr. Lelong stated that of all the various kinds of this nut, which were being grown more or less, there was likely to be some variety discovered which would be very valuable as a commercial nut.

Russell Heath of Santa Barbara spoke interestingly of his experiences in growing this nut. The wood was brittle. The tree did not drop its nuts, and this fact should be considered by those enterplating the growing of this nut. One variety, which he considered a good one, required to be near a river pond, so that its roots could have plenty of moisture. A variety known as the "Louislana improved pecan," had of late been brought to this State, and was well spoken of.

Another gentleman, who said he had recently come from Texas, stated he had been told that much better results could be secured by raising pecan trees from the nuts instead of from the transplanted trees.

After some further comparison of results, the convention adjourned till this morning.

Owing to the fact of the Grand Opera-house being rented for another pur-pose, the convention will finally adjourn at noon today.

Streng Resolutions Passed Indorsing the State Board of Horticulture.

In sending to Gov. Markham copies of correspondence which had passed between Ellwood Cooper, of the State Board of Horticulture, and Prof. Riley, of the Division of Entomology—which correspondence has since been published—Mr. Riley refers to Mr. Cooper as "a rather weak-minded, old gentleman, who has been kept in the presidency of the board for many years now by Mr. Lelong, who has found him a willing tool to further his own wishes." Regarding Mr. Lelong, he says: "For Mr. Lelong's science, I have no respect whatever. He is an impostor, in as far as that is concerned, and I have learned enough of his doings to feel that a reorganization of the board would probably be a benefit to the fruit interests of your State." These remarks are certainly not in the nature of oil upon the troubled waters of the present controversy.

As an offset to this ex parte opinion

As an offset to this ex parte opinion of Mr. Riley, we have the action of the State Fruit-growers' Convention, which on Thursday unanimously adopted strong resolutions, indorsing the action of the State board in the matter of the on Thursday unanimously adopted strong resolutions, indorsing the action of the State board in the matter of the scale parasites, and acknowledging the services which they have rendered to the horticultural industry of the State, which resolutions will be found in the regular report of the proceedings.

Referring to some comments upon C. M. Heintz, which appeared in these columns last week, a letter from Horticultural Commissioner Collins of San Bernardino county was published in The Times of Thursday, in which he asserts that whatever Heintz may have done has been done "upon his own hook," as it were. John Scott, Horticultural Commissioner of Los Angeles county, has made a verbal declaration to the same effect, and states that, if necessary, he will assert it publicly. This ought to settle the status of the objectionable person referred to.

The following communications have been received on this subject:

ONTARIO (Cal.) Nov. 19, 1893.—(To the Editor of The Times.) I see by yesterday's Times, and am also informed that in a previous number, my name is mentioned in connection with the resolutions passed by the Pomological Society, at the meeting held at Ontario, November 2 and 3, 1893, I am given the credit of having presented them without knowing their full purport; this is not true. I was fully aware of the contents, and as they met my individual vlews (though I may be wrong) I presented them, and they were passed without any opposition or comment, and, I assure you that there were more than two or three members voted for them, I wish further to say that it was neither at the request of Messrs. Heintz or Kruckeberg that they were introduced, and I firmly believe neither gentleman was the author. I agree with you that the very wordy war now carried on in the papers is to be deplored, and is certainly doing the horticulturist no good, but, on the other hapd, much harm.

It is devoutly to be hoped that at the coming meeting at Los Angeles, the WEATHER AND CROPS.

Weekly Bulletin of the Southern California Weather Service. Following is the weather and crop bulletin of the Southern California, Weather Service for the week ending

November 20:

Clear, warm weather, with dry northerly, winds prevailed the earlier part of the week; the latter part was cool and cloudy, with a severe windstorm on Friday, accompanied by rain, which turned to snow in the interior districts. An appreciable amount of snow fell on the upland plains; it fell heavily in the mountains, and lightly nearer the coast, in which districts occasional hail and sleet fell in localities. Light frosts formed during the week in various places, doing no damage except to tender vegetation in exposed points. No damage was reported from the snowstorm, an event which is not phenomenal in this section of the State, but one that so seldom occurs that it is an event of a lifetime. Slight damage was reported from the high wind which broke an occasional tree; the wind had its compensating advantages, however, in shaking the remaining portion of the wainut crop from the trees, thus saving the growers the labor and toil of doing this work.

The rains were heavier in the interior and southern districts, and they put the soil in fine condition for the farmers to break ground for grain.

Reports from the orange-producing sections show that the crop did not suffer injury from the storm. Oranges are coloring fast; some have been shipped from the foothill sections, but the bulk of the crop is not yet ready for picking.

Evangelist Cairns's Meeting.

The lecture-room of the East Los Angeles Baptist Church was filled yesterday morning to hear the Bible reading on "Peter" by Evangelist Cairns. Dr. Daniel Read, Rev. C. E. Harris and Dr. Garten were among the auditors. At the evening services the church was again filled by an intelligent audience. After prayer by Miss Emma Miller and Rev. C. F. Winbigler of Riverside, the eloquent evangelist preached a powerful sermon oh "The Prodigal Son." There were many inquirers. Bible reading at 10 a.m. today.

The Merchants Prepared for Business.

Enthusiastic Meeting of the Association Las Evening-A Protest Was Made Against the License Tax.

The newly-organized and rapidlygrowing Merchants' Association held an important meeting last evening in the Board of Trade rooms, with a large number of representative business men of the city in attendance.

Maj. W. C. Furrey presided and W

Bien acted as secretary.

The chairman made a few intro ductory remarks, in which he referred briefly to the success attained by the organization in its work thus far and the of the body thus far has been the project of holding an auxiliary exhibition of fruit and flowers in this city during the time of opening of the Midwinter Fair at San Francisco. The Merchants' Association conferred some time ago with the Southern California Fair Committee in relation to holding such auxiliary displays, but they did not meet with much encouragement from that body, and since then have entered into body, and since then bave entered into the proposition as an association, bent on making it an assured fact by their united efforts.

It was the first topic introduced last It was the first topic introduced last evening, and after the preliminaries were over Mr. Bien, the secretary, stated that the following resolutions had been prepared by the Executive Committee of the Merchants Association for their approval and adoption:

"Gentlemen: After due and deep consideration, the Executive Committee beg leave to lay before you the follow-ing proposition, for we teel it our duty as merchants doing business in Los Angeles to stand by our city first, last and all the time, and help improve it in every way possible. Before making the proposition, however, we wish it distinctly understood from the start that in no way, shape or manner are we opposed, as an association, to the Midwinter Fair which is to be held in San Francisco. On the contrary, we ear-nestly wish it to be an overwhelming success and a lasting credit to the State of California. While on the other hand, we deem it our duty, as the Merchants' Association of Los Angeles, to have this city's name spread, throughout the United States, and when the great influx of visitors is in our midst, to show geles is capable of doing; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that we shall have an immense floral and citrus fair combined, to be held in this city at a date to be hereinafter named, which the merchants will guarantee to make a financial success, and that the proceeds, after all expenses are paid, be equally divided between the orphan asylums of this city: that it is the sense of the Merchants' Association that this fair shall far outshine anything ever at-tempted before."

Maj. Furrey said that the resolutions were the result of the work of the Ex-ecutive Committee. The members of that committee were united in favor of the proposed local fair. They believed that by dividing the proceeds in the manner indicated the project would be greatly assisted from many sources. It was suggested that the merchants of the town should subscribe a guarantee fund, as had been customary on such occasions. The Executive Committee had casions. The Executive Committee had given the matter a great deal of thought and their plan was the outcome of ma-ture consideration.

Mr. Jevne was in favor of the fair, as

Mr. Haas was in favor of all the resolutions and suggestions except that providing for a fee of $5 being paid by all merchants. He believed that the amount should not be fixed in that way, as many of the merchants could and would contribute a much larger amount. would contribute a much larger amount.

J. T. Sheward explained that the $5 was merely for the purpose of estab-lishing the initial fund; that is, just to have contributed enough to awaken interest and co-operation.

After some little further discussion the resolutions were unanimously some of the members present were inclined to criticise severely the action of the Chamber of Commerce on the subject, and characterize it as partial to the San Francisco fair. One gentleman went so far as to say that after learning what he had that he would lose no time in putting in his resignation as a member of the chamber. Others present saw no need of causing a clash between the merchants and the Chamber of Commerce, it being urged that the disagreeable reception accorded the committee of the association, was all at the hands of one particular director of the chamber. It was not advisable to stir up unnecessary dissention, as it adopted. stir up unnecessary dissention, as it was known that the chamber as a whole were heartily auxious to support a bouthern Caiffornia fair.

A call for the report of the committee appointed to consider the matter of the license tax brought forth the following, which it was agreed to present to the Council ca Monday next:

Council on Monday next:

"To the Honorable Council of the City of Los Angeles—Gentlemen: We, the undersigned, members of the Merchants' Association of Los Angeles, respectfully ask that you revoke the license now imposed on merchandise, so far as carried on in stores. We have for years borne this unjust burden, and fail to find any valid excuse for its further continuance, the city having long ago outgrown this backwoods system.

"Over 90 per cent. of the merchants of Los Angeles are realty owners, and as such are keenly interested in the welfare of our city. We would that to hamper merchandising or manufacturing by license is decidedly injurious to the welfare of our city.

"We are always willing to bear our share of taxation, but we do most emphatically protest against being subjected to this double and unjust tax, as no other construction can be put upon a merchandise license.

"We trust that you will see the justice of this petition, aborish the license at once and save us the annoyance and sost of litigation as it has been decided the Merchants' Association (an asso-

It was tacitly argued, that in the event of the Council's refusing to pass upon the petition on Monday the merchants in a body should decline to pay the license on the first of the month, allowing the city to bring suit, when the validity of the tax could be determined in court.

Executive Committee of Southern Cali-fornia, which was to have been held at ganization in its work thus far and the field which lay before it.

One of the principal subjects which has formed a part of the deliberations of the body thus far has been the project that several of the committee were on Tuesday evening summoned to that city, and that others followed yester-

COUNTY COMMITTEE.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon a meeting for the purpose of organizing a county committee was held at Chamber of Commerce Hall. T. D. Stimson was called to the chair, and C. D. Willard was elected secretary.

The object of the meeting was stated by Judge Silent. Its purpose was to bring together citizens of this city and county and to interest them in the Midwinter Fair project. He outlined the work done by the committees ap-pointed by the supervisors and by the Chamber of Commerce; but these committees now desire the co-operation of all citizens. The question was also brought up as to the original idea of recompense to Southern California, in seeking representation at the Mid-winter Fair. It was decidedly through bringing people here. He recalled the sending of a committee to San Francisco to see what arrangements for reduced rates could be obtained from the railroads, and upon return the committee reported that all necessary concessions would be afforded. Last Monday evening, however, word reached here that the Southern Pacific Railroad had placed a ten days' limit on all tickets from the Northwest and this side of the Rocky Mountains, and that stop over privileges would not be allowed. This effectually debars Los Angeles and other points in Southern California from the advantages which they consider as rightfully belonging to them if they expend money and time in representation at the fair. On this account it was thought best to consider well whether it is wise to go ahead and make the outlay of from $50,000 to $75,000, if no especial benefit is to be derived from it. Members of the Executive Committee now Northwest and this side of the Rocky bers of the Executive Committee now in San Francisco will consult with the officials of the Southern Pacific road and see if this time limit cannot be lengthened and some kind of excursion rates secured.

County representatives being present from Monrovia, Whittier, Rivera, Po-mona, San Fernando, Covina, Sierra Madre and other districts, expressions were heard from them. Monrovia desired to be represented on the county committee. { Whittier has already taken action looking to representation at the fair, and a board has been organized. The wish is to unite with Southern Califor nia. San Fernando is ready to join in making the exhibit.

Pomona people, it was stated, feel friendly toward this enterprise, and will be glad to do anything to advance it, although the Pomona representative he thought it certainly would be a great thority.

Sierra Madre is in line with the rest, both in exhibits and pecuniarily.
Rivera will undoubtedly furnish an exhibit. Some twenty or twenty-five persons there are preparing to make a Covina will do all that lies in its power to furnish a good exhibit.

On motion of Mr. Alles, the chairman was authorized to appoint a committee of five on permanent organiza-tion, that committee to report not later than Tuesday, and its members to select an executive committee of twenty-five.

Messrs. Silent, Freeman, Alles, Lan-kershim and Pomeroy were appointed such committee. Mr. Alles asked that the exact work of this committee be explained. Judge Silent was, therefore, called forward to define its duties.

He replied that he hardly knew how to do this. A few have carried on the work up to the present time, and they now feel that they should have broad advice and co-operation. They feel that they want the help of all representative citizens, that the whole of Los Angeles county should be in touch Los Angeles county should be in touch in this work, in order that the best pos-sible exhibit may be made. If satisfac-tory arrangements with the railroads can be secured the contract for the building will be let today. He alluded also to the fact that five carloads of exhibits are on their way from Chicago for this county, and there is no doubt but a magnificent showing can be made.

It was favored by several speakers that unless conciliatory terms were made by the railroad companies, Southern California should expend her money upon a building upon some local site, and open and maintain a grand Mid-winter Fair here, which should draw tourists.

The motion was finally made, and unanimously carried, that the secretary ciation that numbers nearly all of the wholesale and retail merchants of the city) to make a decided stand against the system."

From the emphatic remarks made by many of the merchants in attendance at the merting it was a sident, that a firm.

But instructed to wire the committee, now in San Francisco, that this body, in regular session, decide not to go on unless such concessions are made by the San Francisco railroad people as prove satisfactory to the committee.

unless such concessions are made by the San Francisco railroad people as prove satisfactory to the committee.

Brief discussion ensued as to the shipping of freight for exhibit purposes. Secretary Willard stated that probably the same regulations would prevail as in shipping to the World's Fair. There will, of course, have to be some central point where exhibits can be examined and approved.

It was suggested that each precinct in the county at once use every effort to have thorough local organization effected.

Adjourned until 2 p.m. on Tuesday.
The Committee on Permanent Organization will meet at 4 o'clock this afternoon, at the Chamber of Commerce.

witnesses and spectators, and the sitting of the court was transferred to the City Hall. Dist. Atty. Dillion appeared in person in behalf of the people and R. R. Tanner, Esq., for the defense. Twenty-one witnesses had been summoned, and a large delegation of Palmsmen, together with the wives of both parties, were present. Mr. Bullock, although able to sit up for the first time, was not in condition to be present. On behalf of the prosecution the story of the stabbing affray was retold. It did not differ essentially from that already published, which was substantially the story told by the defendant when he first gave himself up. There was, however, this difference in the two reports. Heart claimed that when he followed Bullock out of the store, some five minutes after Bullock quitted the place, Bullock was waiting outside and assaulted him before he began the cutting. Testimony introduced at the hearing was to the effect that Bullock had failed to get medicine at the store, and had gone to a neighbor's nearby for it, that returning he passed the store just as Heart came out, and said to him: "Well, John, you haye had ns both arrested. What will you do next?" and that Heart replied with an oath that he would show him, and immediately made the assault.

Longshore and Thomas Langford. Their testimony upon the whole was merely cumulative evidence, tending to show that decedent was in his dotage, and completely under the influence of his second wife, during the last years of his life. An effort was made, how-ever, when the witness McCarty was upon the stand to introduce some sensational evidence, reflecting upon the conduct of Mrs. Langford, during the year 188s, but the court refused to ad-mit it. Four of the contestants were mt it. Four of the contestants were recalled, for the purpose of acquainting the jury with their impoverished circumstances and need of the money they are seeking to obtain, and the first half of the case was then closed.

The matter will be taken up again this morning.

A QUESTION OF RENT.

vs. H. Marteen, an action for rent, ordering judgment for the plaintiff therein for the reasons set forth in an opinion, from which the following facts were gathered:

The suit was brought by plaintiff, as assignce of the lessor, to recover rent alleged to be due on certain premises for the month of July last. The defendant, for answer, claims that the lease was modified and changed by a verbal agreement between him and plaintiff, whereby the rent was reduced from $35 to $12.50-per month. This lease, was in writing, and was executed on December 7, 1887, between defendant and Bernard Dubordieu, for the period of ten years from January 1, 1888, at a monthly rental of $35. No time being fixed for the payment of the rent, by implication of law, it was payable at the end of each month. It had been the custom of the parties, however, until the parol agreement, to pay it on the tenth day of each month. The agreement, according to the testimony of defendant's witnesses, was that in consideration that defendant paid the rent on the first day of each month, after March, 1893, it should be reduced to $12.50. There was a sharp conflict in the testimony as to whether or not this agreement was made as alleged, but the court concluded that there was a preponderance of evidence in favor of the defendant.

Plaintiff contended that, even if such an agreement was made, it was an attended to a literal tender to alter a written by an unexe-

Plaintiff contended that, even it such an agreement was made, it was an attempt to alter a written by an unexecuted agreement, which was contrary to the provisions of section 1698 of the Civil Code. On the other hand, defendant claimed that the payment of civil Code. On the other hand, defendant claimed that the payment of the reduced rent, in accordance with the oral agreement, and fhe acceptance of it by plaintiff for the months or April, May and June, made it an executed oral agreement. This is the question upon which the case depends.

The court, after reviewing the lease, holds that the principle laid down in section 1698, is the same as that upon which rests the doctrine of accord and satisfaction, in which case it is said that "the agreement to be operative must be immediate; an agreement to settle at a future time cannot be an accord and satisfaction." (2 Whart.
Cont., sec. 966.) The case of Ehrenberg vs. Peters (66 Cal., 114) is also cited, in which the provisions of section 1698 are held to apply to the contract of the tenant to pay rent, and that such a contract cannot be altered until the rent is paid under the parol modification of it.

FAILED TO MAKE A CASE. When the case of Thomas Gorman, et ux., vs. H. C. Witmer, an action for damages for personal injuries, was called in Department Six yesterday morning, counsel for the defendant moved the court for a judgment of non-suit, upon the ground that the plain-tiffs had failed to prove a sufficient case for the jury, which motion was granted by Judge McKinley. The plain-tiffs taking exception to this ruling, a stay of proceedings was ordered until they pay the jurors' fees, amounting to 348. moved the court for a judgment of non

A SEAMAN'S CASE. William Gerald, a seaman, was arraigned yesterday in the District Court on an indictment found against him by the Federal grand jury.

The charge against Gerald was that on September 27, at San Diego, he did unlawfully unload and deliver from the British ship Soudan, two casks of the British ship Soudan, two casks of merchandise between the hours of sundown and sunset, without the permission of the Collector of the Port or any other person in authority. It seems that at the time complaint was made it was supposed that the casks contained goods subject to duty, but afterward it was learned that they contained merely slops from the ship. Notwithstanding this fact, Gerald will have to answer for the alleged offense. Time for trial was set by the court for November 28.

Trouble With Tough Passengers in San Bernardino.

San Bernardino.

The Southern California Road in a Contest—
That Lumber Rate—General, .ocal and Personal Railroad Mention.

An instance of the way an avenging Nemesis of a labor organization followed up a marked victim has just come to the notice of The Times, and it has in it a mixture of the pathetic and fudicrous. About seven months ago a man named F. S. Granger, at that time holding the position of a conductor running a train for the Burington road out of Denver, came to Les Angeles with his invalid wife, hoping that a sojourn here would benefit her. After remaining in Southern California about six weeks, Mrs. Granger felt restored and returned with her husband to Denver. The benefit she had received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and returned with her husband to Denver. The benefit she had received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and returned with her husband to Denver. The benefit she had received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evistored and received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and the serice well shaded another result of band to Denver. The benefit she had received in this climate was dispelled by the Denver climate, and it was evident that for the sake of her health she should dwell in a milder climate. Mr. Granger, who had served for fif-teen years with the Burlington as conductor, trainmaster, and assistant superintendent, applied to the Southern California Railroad for a situation, hoping to remove here for his wife's sake. The letter he presented commended him to the South-ern California officials, who could commended him to the Southern California officials, who could not at that time give him a train, but they offered him the position of yardmaster for the company at San Bernardino. He accepted the situation, and went to the scene of his future labor where last Monday, he should have been put in charge. An engineer of a switch engine, who had, at one time worked on the Burlington, recognized Granger as one of the conductors who had stood by that road during the last great strike, and was consequently blacklisted by the engineers' brotherhood. The San Bernardino switch-engine-man notified his brothers of the order, and they in turn served notice on Superintendent W. B. Beamer that if Granger was appointed to a position in the yards it would precipitate a strike on all the lines. The matter looked so serious that the appointment was reconsidered, and another one made, as was noted in this paper Tuesday. It is understood that Mr. Granger has returned to the Burlington to take back the position he gave up to come here.

TROUBLE WITH TRAMPS. TROUBLE WITH TRAMPS.

Transportation officials of the Southern California road are having a tussle with the army of "unemployed" men at San Bernardino. As reported in the telegraphic columns of this paper, yesterday, a body of forty-five of these men reached that point from Los Angeles and encamped there until such time as they could proceed further on their deadbeat journey. At the company's offices here it is learned that the fellows gave much trouble but time as they could proceed further on their deadbeat journey. At the company's offices here it is learned that the fellows gave much trouble but the fellows gave much trouble but have so far been checkmated. Tuesday, the gang, organized and officered, as is the custom now with the beats, boarded three empty box cars of a Santa Fe freight train bound eastward, determined, as they asserted, to ride to Ash Fork, Ariz., where they had been promised work. The trainmen first ordered the fellows off, but to no purpose, and then switched the three cars on to a siding and left them there while the train got under headway and escaped without the undesirable passengers. The fellows discovering that they had been outwitted went into camp again to wait for the next freight train going their way. Wednesday afternoon the same gang took possession of the regular through freight, determined to resist all efforts to dislodge them, and not be caught. Bernardino were called on for aid and men were finally prevailed upon proceed. San Bernardino people do not want their guests and made overtures to the railroad company for transporting them elsewhere, but at last accounts they had started out on foot, probably to some way station where they can have better success in stealing a train. According to some accounts it might be that these men are not the professional "burns" that are infesting railroads and cities so generally now, but they suffer in people's estimation by practicing the arts of the regular deadbeat. It is known that certain employment agencies in Los Angeles post bulletins asking for men to go to Arizona to do railroad work, offering applicants a rate of a cent a mile to their destination. Men who want work pay their fees to the employment agents for securing the jobs and can, by proper application, get tickets at the cent-a-mile rate. A railroad official here says that the efficienty plants of them the cheaper method of travel, organizing in gangs sufficiently large to steal their passage.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 23.—(By the Associated Press.) The company of forty unemployed men who boarded two east-bound Santa Fe trains last night at the depot in this city, were compelled by the presence and persuasion of Sheriff Booth to desist from their attempts to force a ride over that road, and they camped for the night on the depot grounds. This morning Frank Burns, the railroad's detective, put in an appearance and got out papers to forcibly evict them from the railroad company's property, and in company with Sheriff Booth, proceeded to serve the papers, but the officers found the camp deserted, and the men not to be found. Before leaving the men stated that they would walk to the next station, Irvington, where they would forcibly take possession of the next east-bound freight and secure a free ride to Barstow, where they have assurance that the Atlantic and Pacific will give them a boost to their destination.

Whitney, who died very suddenly on Wednesday evening, while over in the city. She had been under treatment for heart trouble for some time, and on Wednesday she went to see her physician, accompanied by Mrs. D. K. Trask. While driving home, Mrs. Trask says that her companion was seized with what at first appeared to be a fainting fit, and fell backward in her seat in the carriage. Mrs. Trask at once turned the horse's head toward town and took the lady to the physician's office, and she was later carried to a hospital on Broadway. In spite of all that could be done for her, however, she failed to recover, and died in a short time. Street Paving Completed After a Long-continued Fight.

Visiting Electric Road Capitalists-Golden Wedding Anniversary-Points Purely Personal-News Briefly

It was just 10 o'clock Thursday mornit was just 10 o'clock Thursday morning when the job of paving Colorado street was completed. The finishing touches were put on at the Fair Oaks intersection and the Santa Fe crossing, whereupon Manager Drain formally lng, whereupon Manager Drain for-mally, and in a manner most impress-ive, declared the work finished. The question of a paving Colorado street was first agitated several years ago. Bituminous rock was the material then favored. The matter was brought before the city Board of Trustees, the first the city Board of Trustees, but the proceedings were dropped before anything practical had been accomplished. Last winter, when mud to a depth of six Inches, spread over Pasadena's principal thoroughfare, making it almost impassible from Delacy street to Broadway, the paving project was again revived, this time in earnest.

On February 13, Council passed a resolution, calling for estimates of the cost of such work. A week later such estimates were submitted by the City Engineer. On the same date a resolution of intention was passed to pave the portion of the street above outlined with an asphalt base and surface. No-

Engineer. On the same date a resolution of intention was passed to pave the portion of the street above outlined with an asphalt base and surface. Notices of street work were posted February 24. March 28, resolutions, adopting specifications and ordering the work, were passed. When the time for opening the bids (May 1) came along Milford Fish, chairman of the "Citizens" Committee, asked that the time for opening the bids be extended. The "Citizens' "Committee was organized to advocate the substitution of a cement-concrete for an asphalt-concrete base. On motion, the opening of the bids was postponed two weeks, at the expiration of which time, in deference to the clearly-expressed preference of a majority of the property-owners for a cement-concrete base, a motion was passed rescinding all previous resolutions having to do with the asphalt specifications. May 22, a resolution adopting new specifications, calling for a six-inch cement-concrete base, with a two-inch asphalt surface, was passed, together with a resolution ordering the work. The clerk was instructed to advertise for bids. Up to June 19 no bids had been received, and "all" bids were, accordingly, declared refected. June 27, all previous resolutions adopting specifications, and ordering work, were rescinded, and a new resolution was passed, calling for estimates of the cost of paving. These were submitted a week later by the engineer, after which a resolution of intention to pave was passed, and notices of street work posted. August 14. resolutions were received—one to postion the paving on account of the financial stringency, the other to proceed with it as rapidly as possible. The petitions were simply filed, and, fortunately, did not further delay proceedings. August 31, bids were opened as cial stringency, the other to pro-with it as rapidly as possible. The ions were simply filed, and, fortu-y, did not further delay proceednately, did not further delay proceedings. August 31, blds were opened as follows: J. A. Fairchild, of San Francisco, 29 2-5 cents per foot; A. McNally of Los Angeles, 32% cents; Los Angeles Asphalt Paving Company, 30 cents. The contract was awarded the ame day to Mr. Fairchild. Work was civally begun September 27, and, as ctually begun September 27, and, as ready related, the job was completed

November 23.

Thus the proceedings, as prescribed by law, leading up to the paving of Colorado street, are briefly outlined Many accompanying details, such as the fight waged at the start between the hittoriprography mand the as-Many accompanying details, such as the fight waged at the start between the bituminous-rock men and the asphalt men, the opposition aroused against paving Raymond and Fair Oaks avenues, the back-down of the Perrine Paving Company of San Francisco, and the suit subsequently brought to recover possession of a forfeited $3000 all would prove interesting reading, but are barred out on account of lack of space. The fight has been a long and a bitter one, but it is gratifying to note that the outcome meets with universal satisfaction. Colorado street is well paved, as all of the interested property-owners are free to acknowledge. It was a public improvement, and its successful carrying out will be appreciated not only by the property-owners and lessees doing but necessal and lessees doing but necessal and resees doing but necessal and resees as well, all of which contains a moral which property-owners on Raymond and Fell Oaks avenues will de ral which property-owners on Ray-nd and Fair Oaks avenues will do

FROM MOUNTAIN TO SEA.

A party composed of C. W. Stewart of San Diego, H. D. Underwood of Tuc-A party composed of C. W. Stewart of San Diego, H. D. Underwood of Tucson, Col. L. P. Cram of Los Angeles, Albert Jones of Santa Monica, Fred L. Baker of Los Angeles, Judge R. H. Knight of Pasadena, O. Pooley of Los Angeles, Maj. H. M. Russell of Chicago, ex-Mayor W. H. Workman and W. H. Knight of Los Angeles, arrived in town Thursday morning in a Los Angeles tally-ho. They had driven out from the Angel City over the adobe road, past the winery and through South Pasadena, which is the route over which they say they propose to build an electric road. The drive was continued to Altadena, where an electric car was in waiting. In this they were conveyed to Rubio Canyon. After a visit to the falls the ascent of the incline was made to the Swiss chalet on Echo Mountain, where lunch was enjoyed. The visitors passed through Pasadena on the way home about 4 o'clock.

Pasadena on the way home about 4 o'clock.

Judge Knight, the legal adviser of the visiting capitalists, stated positively to the reporter that his clients mean business. They have purchased a right-of-way through Pasadena over the route of the Highland-street car line, and they have pretty nearly a clean sweep between here and Los Angeles. It was stated that work looking to the construction of the Los Angeles-Pasadena section will be begun inside of a very few weeks, and that this portion of the road will be merely a connecting link of the continuous line from the mountains at Altadena to the sea at Santa Monios.

Report of the Sugar-beet Output for the Season.

Very Creditable Showing for the Farme Another Love Match-Not Wanted-General News Notes and Personals.

The farmers of the northern portion of the county are surely the happiest people out of doors. Their unqualified success in the cultivation of sugareets has, in part, been a surprise to them and, of course, it has been a very pleasant one. They have now received the last of their money for the season's crop, and are putting in a good portion of their time these beautiful California days in looking happy. A meeting of the Anaheim Co-operative Beet-sugar Company was held in Anaheim a few days ago, at which the following final report of the season's output was made by Secretary Marks: ANAHEIM, Cal., Nov. 14, 1893.

To the Board of Directors of the Ana-heim Co-operative Beet-Sugar Company -Gentlemen! As provided by the by laws of the corporation, I herewith sub-mit for your approval the following report. ANOTHER LOVE MATCH

John W. King and S. Coffman were married in this city Thursday by Justice of the Peace Freeman. Mr. King is one of Orange county's most reliable and prosperous peat-land farmers, who hails from the classic precincts of Garden Grove, and who has been enjoying life on this mundane sphere for upward of 53 years, while S. Coffman, the bride, as the name appears upon the hotel register, turns out to be a bashful, maiden lady, 45 years of age, who only arrived from Glendale, O., a few days ago. It seems that Miss Coffman knew Mr. King when he at one time was a resident of the Buckeye State, and at that time she rather looked upon him with some degree of favor, but fate decreed otherwise, and they were separated for many years, during which Mr. King wooed, won, and married another woman, with whom he tice of the Peace Freeman. Mr. Pasadena Commandery, No. 31, went to Los Angeles, Thursday evening, in a special car to attend the reception tendered the grand State commander and the conferring of the order of the Red Cross. The grand officers will inspect Pasadena Commandery this (Friday) evening.

The members of the Ladies' Central Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association, and other ladies interested in the work, are invited to meet in the reading room of the association at 2:30 this (Friday) afternoon. The report of Miss Duncan, the delegate to the State convention at Stockton, will be read and business matters of an interesting character will be brought before this meeting.

The case of the City vs. E. S. Frost and soon their hearts were aglow with burning love. Arrangements were made for a meeting in this city, which, according to agreement, was brought about a day or two ago, the prospective bride traveling all the way from the great protection State of Ohio to meet her affianced.

The were happily married Thursday, and are now enjoying their honeymoon in the country, at the home of the bridegroom.

AN UNSUBSTANTIATED REPORT. AN UNSUBSTANTIATED REPORT.

For the past several days a report has been current upon the streets that W. H. Spurgeon had put in two bids for the furnishing of a location for the Santa Ana postoffice, each bid being made on the present site of the office; that the first bid, in effect, was to furnish the location at $25 per month; that when the news was received here that the French Operahouse Block had been accepted, Mr. Spurgeon then telegraphed to Washington that he would furnish his location for $1 per year, the same that it was reported the French Block was put in at. Mr. Spurgeon called at the Times branch office yesterday to say that the report was untrue, and that there were no grounds whatever for its circulation. He stated that he put in but one bid, and that was $1; that the bid was handed in on the Saturday evening preceeding the was $1; that the bid was handed in on the Saturday evening preceeding the Monday upon which the bids were opened by the postoffice inspector. Mr. Spurgeon further stated that when he first heard the report he paid no particular attention to it, but, as it was now becoming so general, he felt that, in justice $0 the Postoffice Department at Washington, as well as to himself, a statement of facts should be made in reference to the matter.

WRIT OF REVIEW SQUASHED. Judge Towner rendered a decision Thursday, in the case of Crowther et al. vs. the Anaheim Irrigation Dis-trict, sustaining the demurrer to the complaint and squashing the writ of review heretofore issued on the grounds that the action brought was not the proper action. While the decision, as it stands at the present time, is in favor of the irrigation district, the judge has not precluded the possibility of the plaintiffs continuing the fight on new and more acceptable grounds. In fact, in anticipation of the recent decision of the court, the plaintiffs have prepared the necessary papers for a continuance of the suit. complaint and squashing the writ of

A degraded specimen of humanity answering to the name of Frank Clark, and claiming to hail from Los Angeles, arrived in Santa Ana a few days ago, with his wife, and put up at a lodging house on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth. They were here only a short time, however, until their true characters were known and steps were at once taken to free the city of their degrading presence. Marshal Nichols learned of their presence and, after satisfying himself that the reports about them were true, he notified them to make themselves conspicuous in town by their absence. They left Thursday for pastures new and fields more green.

JUST SO! The Anaheim Gazette is considerate

in the following paragraph: "That the Midwinter Fair is coming to be a the Midwinter Fair is coming to be a great thing, much larger than was at first supposed, there is no doubt. Every county in the State is taking steps to be represented, but Orange county seems to be out of it. The supervisors have put their foot down upon any appropriation providing for representation at the fair, but we think that, the case being altered, they should rescind their former action and permit the county to maintain an exhibit. Orange county cannot afford exhibit. Orange county cannot afford to be absent from the fair."

SANTA ANA BREVITIES.

The local papers at Anaheim say that J. W. Blankinship and Joseph Hall have arrived in town from Oregon, and will probably locate. They are climate refugees, having left snow three to four feet deep. They take quite an interest in sugar-beet culture, and may probably invest here and go to beet-raising. Col. R. J. time was given up to dancing and music.

At high noon on Thursday, at the Congregational Church, there took place the ceremonies which united for life W. D. Wagner and Miss Carla Hammer. Rev. J. R. Knodell, pastor of the church, officiating. It was a quiet wedding, there being but few friends beside the relatives of the families present. The party was led down the aisle to the altar by Misses Amy Hammer and Clara Soule, flower girls. Miss Ida Miller of Los Angeles acted as bridesmaid, and J. H. Wagner, brother of the groom, as groomsman. After the knot was tied, a reception was given at the home of the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hammer, Ninth street, where congratulations were extended, and the wedding present its Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hammer, Ninth street, where congratulations were extended, and the wedding presents displayed. The groom is deputy county auditor, and the bride one of the charming young ladies of this city. The bridal couple left Thursday evening for Corenado.

REDLANDS

The city trustees did little at their meeting on Wednesday night, save pass upon a number of bills. Action upon the bids for the construction of the Little Reservior Canyon storm-water ditch was referred for one week, save in the instance of the bid of N. B. Holt, which was, by his request, rejected and the check returned. An application from T. H. Watkins, to be appointed inspector of construction of storm-water ditch work, was placed on file. A petition from George W. Meade, asking that an arc electric light be blaced on Cajon street, between the Redlands school and Summit avenue, was filed. A. Barmann, Acting City Engineer during the absence of City Engineer during the absence of City Engineer Tuttle, submitted a communication respecting work about which there is some dispute.

REDLANDS PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The city library trustees held their first meeting in the Council chamber at 9:30 Thursday morning, and organized by electing Alfred H. Smiley president; Mrs. W. Howard White, secretary; F. P. Meserve, treasurer. The other members of the board are. A. B. Ruggles. Miss A. E. Foote and J. B. Breed. The name of the association adopted was Redlands Public Library, and meetings of the trustees fixed for 9:30 a.m. on Thursdays. A resolution was passed, asking all who will contribute books to the library to send to the secretary a list of the books they will donate. It is also requested that those interested in the library shall send to the secretary list of the books they most desire placed in the library. The president and secretary were requested to visit Riverside and make a thorough examination of the public library for points as to selection and arrangement of books, manner of conducting it, etc.

The meeting was a most enthusiastic one, and it is evident that every means will be employed to secure a good library and conduct it upon as economical a plan as possible. The trustees, officers and committees serve without compensation, and no expense is incurred by the meetings.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY. A Hitch About the Appropriation for the Midwinter Fair.

After consulting with his attorney, G. W. Fox, County Auditor, has re-fused to issue a warrant for the $1000 appropriated by the supervisors for the Midwinter Fair, and ordered paid to J. R. Newberry, chairman of the fair commission for this county. Through his attorneys, Crowe & An-Through his attorneys, Crowe & Anderson, suit was immediately instituted by J. R. Newberry to mandamus the Auditor to issue the warrant. The funds appropriated were designated as coming from the sum set aside for inducing immigration, and the supervisors hold that the Midwinter Fair is for that purpose, and such use of the funds is legitimate. The case was argued in the Superior Court on Thursday.

POMONA.

An Exciting Experience With a Lunatle— That Saloon.

The epidemic of crankiness that is sweeping over the country seems to have struck Pomona, and W. J. Kesler, a well-known citizen of this place, is lucky in escaping with his life. Wednesday night he was walking down Second street, and when he came to Gordon, Will Pascoe caught him came to Gordon, Will Pascoe caught him by the arm and began talking about the "troubles" he had experienced, and said he had been "driven into it" and he was "a bad man" when driven, and a lot of other silly talk. Kesler saw Pascoe was not in his right mind, and made every attempt to get away, but Pascoe said Kesler wou'd have to walk a mile with him, antil he heard his tale of woe. All at once Pascoe exhibited a razor and told Kesler if he dared to move he would cut him all to pieces. As Pascoe had Kesler by the right arm, nothing could be done but to walk along. After going a couple of blocks Pascoe loosened his hold for a moment, and Kesler jerked loose and knocked Pascoe to the sidewalk. Pascoe made a slash at Kesler's abdomen, and only missed it about an inch. Kesler ran away from the madman, being glad to escape with his life. He says it was the most awful experience he ever had, and he fully expected the madman to cut him all to pieces any moment. A warby the arm and began talking about the

Alfred Wright of this place, an acknowledged authority on the raising of olives, was seen by a Times representative yesterday. He said: "Mr. Lelong's statement as made in The Times of yesterday may be all right, but I want to say most emphatically that the former statements as publisher are decidedly injurious to the olivegrowing industry, and Mr. Lelong knows it.
I have written several communications denying his statements, which are certainly not correct." It seems that about the size of the thing is that Mr. Lelong's state ments do not "jibe" with the experience of successful growers in this section, and that is about all there is to it.

Bosman had fired a pistol close to her body, and had threatened to kill her. She exhibited an undergarment, which had hung on the wall, and been perforated by the bullet from Bosman's revolver. Usually it is a hard matter to make a complaint hold against such persons as Bosman, for the reason that the women are seldom willing to testify against their paramours when the cases come to trial. Bosman's victim did appear the next day, and swear to a complaint, but yesterday, when the examination was called, she was not present, and a continuance was granted until Saturday.

ORANGE, LEMON AND OLIVE LAND,
And Orange and Lemon Trees on Five and Ten Years' Time.

*This land is located at Mentone, and Redlands, and includes water piped to each ten-acre tract. Mentone lands grow the finest fruits, of nearly all kinds, grown in the world. Some of this winter's orange crop is already sold at $3.50 per box, and some sold last spring at $4 per box from trees planted only four years. Choice pieces can still be bought at $250 to $300 per acre. I will furnish the choicest trees in the market and plant the land at $50 per acre. Will only require one-third cash down, balance in five equal annual payments. Have very choice land one mile from center of Redlands, only $150 cash payment down and no farther payment for ten years, at 6½ per cent. interest. I have the sale of three choice groves at Mentone, four at Crafton and six at Redlands, all in bearing, at prices ranging from $550 to $1000 per acre, according to age and location.

If you want pure water, pure air, good train service on two railroads, good society, cheap ice, electric lights in your house as cheap as tallow candles, go to Mentone, where a case of malaria, rheumatism, asthma or throat trouble is never seen, except in print. For further particulars apply to W. P. McIntosh, general agent, No. 14 South Main street, Los Angeles, Cal.
